

Withdrawing From All Classes For A Term

Regulations:

A student may withdraw from all classes for the term at the College of General Studies (CGS), 4th Floor Cathedral of Learning. The student's academic record will bear the grade "W" for each registered course for the term. This may only be done one time while registered as a CGS student.

Note: Guidelines for financial aid eligibility may require students to earn a minimum number of credits per term and/or year. Although withdrawing from all classes will not affect this year's financial aid, it will have an impact on future financial aid packages. Refunds for tuition are prorated by the office of Student Accounts for a limited time after the last day of the add/drop period. Withdrawing from all classes does not relieve you of your financial obligations to the University.
